"Cardholders can pay their obligations to City of North Bonneville in the same way they handle other transactions, anytime, day or night, and without having to write a check, carry large sums of cash, or wait in line," explained Deanna Adams, City Clerk. "This increases our efficiency and improves service."

GovPayNet accepts Visa®, MasterCard®, American Express® and Discover®. "Each business day, we reconcile the previous day's payments with the government agency and then electronically forward the cardholders' payments in full to the agency's bank account," said Mark MacKenzie, CEO of GovPayNet. "We also handle all cardholder calls and inquiries about any payment issues," he added.

GovPayNet, based in Indianapolis, is a category leader in accepting credit and debit card payments on behalf of government agencies. More than one million cardholders annually rely on them when making payments to over 2,000 agencies in more than 40 states.
